The Spirit of Christmas

by Katherine Edelman

THE Spirit of Christmas has descended upon the world. In some mysterious, magic way, it has entered into your heart and mine, transforming, changing us from the everyday people of yesterday. We have become more human, more understanding, more likable. The walls of coldness, of pride and of selfishness have fallen into ruins, the barriers of misunderstanding have crumbled into ashes, before the force of this mighty Spirit. Light and love and faith have entered into our hearts, bringing with them the peace that passeth all understanding. Friends have grown more close and dear; ties of home and kindred have become a thousand times more precious. Our hearts go out to the poor and unfortunate in a great rush of sympathy and we grow eager and anxious to make their way more easy. Our homes reflect the joy in our souls; they glow with brightness and cheer and with a gracious spirit of hospitality.

THE Spirit of Christmas has filled us with a desire to serve, to give, to make others happy. We are glad and proud to sacrifice our own pleasure that others may have greater joy. We grow fearful and afraid lest one home in all our land should be forgotten; lest one little child should fail to be remembered . . . You and I, and all the rest of mankind, have been changed into messengers of joy, of peace, and of goodwill through this beautiful Spirit of Christmas that has taken possession of our hearts.

BUREAUCRACY RAMPANT

"On the ropes and gasping for mercy from the bristling array of governmental laws and orders with which it cannot keep up, the American Bar Association has looked into the whole challenging mess of new rules and regulations and come away shaking its head," said the Grand Rapids Press recently. "New laws are all right, the bar association intimated, but there is a limit to which man's comprehension could go . . ."

"Now the Brookings Institute, a research body, has arrived at the same conclusion—that a veritable Roman Holiday of law-making has been visited upon the country. Laws appear and are enforced with dizzying speed that shows the only streamlining has not taken place in railroads or airplanes."

To the lawyer and the governmental specialist, a vast flux of new laws creates great problems—and they create still greater problems for the public at large. Every time a bureau is created, every time new machinery for enforcing legislation is set up, a new regiment of public employees begins feeding at the public trough. Individual liberties and corporate rights are abrogated or restricted; citizens and businesses, faced with a welter of unprecedented rulings, are often unable to decide whether an act is legal or illegal—and the tax bill soars.

I would be unjust to blame bureaucracy on one party or one administration. It has been growing rapidly for many years, and its rate of growth was accelerated by depression. We see its results now—the nation's tax bill is at the highest point in history, while the national income is far below normal; more people work for government than ever before. And the people pay—both in cash and in loss of rights and privileges they have hitherto enjoyed. It is an undeniable fact that the two aspects of bureaucracy—higher cost of government and extension of paternalism—are a great barrier to the development of industry, the employment of men, the investment of capital; in brief, a barrier to recovery. We will have less bureaucracy, less government extravagance, less paternalism, when the people demand it—and not until then.

WHEN WILL IT CEASE?

In a recent address on the magnitude of the nation's fire loss, Owen R. Easley said:

"When will it cease? Who knows?"

"How? Who can tell?"

"Not, I believe, by any big spectacular event, flaring across the headlines. When a still, small voice whispers into your consciousness and into mine that needless waste is particularly wanton in times of woe; that a human body burned to ashes is as strong an indictment against our civilization as a human body riddled with machine gun bullets; then, I believe, we shall all begin in the little things of our daily life to do our part to help turn America from its leadership in Fire Waste to leadership in Fire Prevention."

What we must realize is that every day witnesses a great fire in this country—a fire that destroys irreplaceable lives and thousands of dollars worth of property. This great fire is made up of a multitude of little fires—none of which may be particularly important; none of which destroys much; but which, in the aggregate, cause a vast amount of unnecessary waste, distress, tragedy. The fire, for example, that destroys your neighbor's little bungalow, may seem a comparatively small one—but when thousands of such fires are put together, the nation has suffered a serious loss that must be made up by us all.

Mr. Easley's comparison of a life destroyed by fire to a person murdered by gangsters is particularly forceful—and its truth cannot be doubted. The carelessness and the ignorance that cause fires may not be classed as criminality by law—but so far as their effect on the community and society is concerned, they are as grave a menace as crime. If that still, small voice would speak to all of us, America would be a safer, more prosperous and happier land to live in.

Schools Have Made Great Progress, Speaker Tells PTA

Great progress has been made in Antioch schools during the past two decades, Mrs. Edna Warriner told members of the local P. T. A. at the grade school Monday night. Speaking on "The Parents' Responsibility," Mrs. Warriner stressed the fact that it is the parent's duty to keep himself informed upon the administration of the school and of his child's progress. The speaker discussed the problems of those administering the schools and praised those citizens who are public spirited enough to assume the responsibilities of directing the policies of the school by serving on the boards of education, and directed attention to the part parents are able to take through a properly conducted parent-teacher's association.

Delightful readings were given by Buddy Dunn, a young man from Wheatland, Wisconsin, and pupils from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades were heard in group songs.

At the business session it was voted to sponsor dental work for children of families on relief. The Antioch Legion, it is understood, will pay one-half of the bill for this dental work.

Fred B. Swanson left today for Indianapolis where he will attend the 50th anniversary of Mount Temple Friday. The five Shrines of the Hoosier state will attend the celebration.

DROWNS TRYING TO CROSS FOX RIVER ON SLED

Rescue Attempt Fails; Body of Chicago Man Not Recovered

Tumbling into open water while attempting to slide across Fox River on a small sled, Peter Cutler, 35, of Chicago, father of two children, drowned near Silver Lake early Sunday morning. His body has not been recovered.

Cutler went down while his friends were forming a human chain across the treacherous ice in an effort to rescue him.

Cutler, accompanied by several friends, left Chicago at 1:00 o'clock Sunday morning to come to Kenosha county to spend the week-end at the cottage of Henry N. Peterson and Willard Frick, on Fox river, west of Silver Lake.

Visiting Friends. The party arrived shortly after 3 o'clock. Before they entered the cottage, Cutler saw a small sled leaning against the building. He picked up the sled and told one of his friends he was going to show him how to cross the river.

He ran to the bank and started sliding across the ice. Several feet short of the west side, he struck open water and the man and sled went down.

The river at the scene of the drowning is between 15 and 20 feet deep and the current there normally runs between 3 and 4 miles an hour. The river is high now, and the current is probably swifter.

ANTIOCH LEGION MEN WILL SPONSOR SCOUT TROOP

Boys' Organization to Receive Help from the Local Post

Antioch Legionnaires will sponsor the activities of the local troop of Boy Scouts of America. It was decided at a meeting of Post 748 here last week. The troop committee was appointed Monday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the post.

Walter Hills was named chairman; A. Maplethorpe, promotion work; Harry Jensen, inspector; Dr. L. John Zimmerman, instructor; Laurel Fowler, auditor and finance officer; Commander Otto S. Klass, general committee man; and Rev. L. V. Siller, scoutmaster. For the past year Rev. Siller has directed the activities of the scouts almost single-handed, and he is pleased that the Legion group has decided to back the move for a larger Boy Scout organization.

The Scoutmaster and Legionnaires are urging that every boy in the locality 12 years of age or over apply for membership in the local troop. The Boy Scout organization is non-sectarian and non-militaristic, and encouraged and directed in healthy outdoor games and other activities.

The committee plans to hold an open meeting early in January to which parents of boys will be invited.

HICKORY SCHOOL STUDENT WINS T. B. ESSAY CONTEST

Helen R. Thompson, of Hickory school, won first prize in the essay contest conducted by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association. Miss Mary Kendall, executive secretary of the organization, has announced. Miss Thompson's essay on the "Life of Edward Livingston Trudeau" was broadcast by her Thanksgiving morning over station WOOD.

Jack Nevlin of Gayle school was second, and Nellie Blohm of Beach school was awarded third prize.

Miss Agnes Haas of Plymouth, Ind., spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. David N. Deering.

Christmas Sweets

Candy is an energy-giving food, but, unfortunately perhaps, it is not (at all times) a most desirable energy-giving food. Sugar exists in candy in concentrated form. Sugar is contained in large quantity in some fruits, especially in dried fruits, figs, dates and prunes. These fruits are a much better source of sweets for children than is candy, because they do not contain as much sugar, and have, in addition, valuable food materials in the form of ash.

Candy should never be used to excess or at the wrong time. A little eaten at the end of a meal is not harmful to the normal person. It is well to drink a generous quantity of water when eating candy or other sweets. Since molasses, honey and maple syrup are not so concentrated as is sugar, they are desirable sweets for children, provided they are used moderately, at the right time and are mixed with other foods.

Parisian Sweets.
Chop equal parts of figs, dates, raisins and nuts together. Knead on a board dredged with confectioner's sugar, until well blended. Roll to 1/3 inch thickness, cut into cubes or rounds, and dip each piece in confectioner's sugar. Store in tin boxes.

Molasses Candy.

6 tablespoons molasses
7 tablespoons of water
4 tablespoons of sugar
1/2 pound butter.
Boil briskly about 20 minutes. Pour in pan, when cool enough to handle, pull and flavor.

Pop Corn Balls.

1/2 cup molasses
2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon vinegar.
Cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Pour over popped corn and form into balls.

Pecan Candy.

2 cups sugar over fire until melted.

Remove, add 1/2 cup pecan meats, beat till stiff to pour in buttered pan.

Nut Glace.

Boil 2 cups cane sugar, 2/3 cup boiling water and 2 tablespoons vinegar.

gar until it turns light brown. Pour over 1 pound of nuts in buttered pan.

Evils in the minority are repugnant; in the majority they are respectable.
